

alexander Van straten

architecture + furniture

Moore

So many ways that lead to Rome... This lamp appears as a stack of objects and yet does not deny its function. Each part of the object has a quality of its own, The two lampshades do what they are designed for, and do so in a unique position. This results in beautiful light and a monumental appearance. The base of this lamp is made of painted steel wire. The pole consists of solid American walnut. The lampshades are made of silk fabric.

certificate no.

303

floor lamp

Moore

materials

walnut wood/lamp shade

dimensions

185 H

series

I of 40